

What are the benefits?

- The Family Support Assessment (FSA) identifies needs early so that your child/family doesn't get into any more difficulty and is provided with support.
- The assessment looks at your family situation as a unique unit and helps to work out what support would be best suited.
- The process helps people work together more efficiently to provide the support for your child/family needs.
- The process ensures that you can be involved throughout the process and be part of the solution.

The Torfaen Support programme is not just about:

- A form – It is about having a conversation with you and your family, to identify needs and then putting support in place.
- A referral process – the FSA is an assessment tool, it is not about making 'referrals'.
- A guarantee of service – a referral being made does not mean a guarantee of service and should not be thought of or introduced to your family in this way.
- A crisis intervention – a TAF is not intended as a last resort which is reserved for situations which have escalated or reached crisis point.

Torfaen Family Support Programme

Information for Parents/Carers

The Torfaen Family Support programme works together with children, young people and their families to overcome challenges and to bring about positive change.

Following a referral being made, a family support assessment is undertaken which is based on your families strengths and needs. This assessment will help us to understand your situation and to draw out any support needs.

A Team Around the Family (TAF) is established and will include yourself, your child(ren), other family members and any support services who are likely to be able to help and make a difference.

Your family will be appointed a lead worker who will make sure that the additional support the Team agrees to, actually happens and that you are supported during this process.

The Family Support Process is a voluntary process. You will be asked to give consent at the referral and assessment stages; without consent the process cannot continue. Older children over the age of 12 may wish to make

How will it help me?

Everyone needs a bit of extra support from time to time. Having a Team Around your Family will help to bring people together who can help you and your family, to work with you to find solutions and bring about change. They will build on your family strengths and work with you to overcome problems and difficulties.

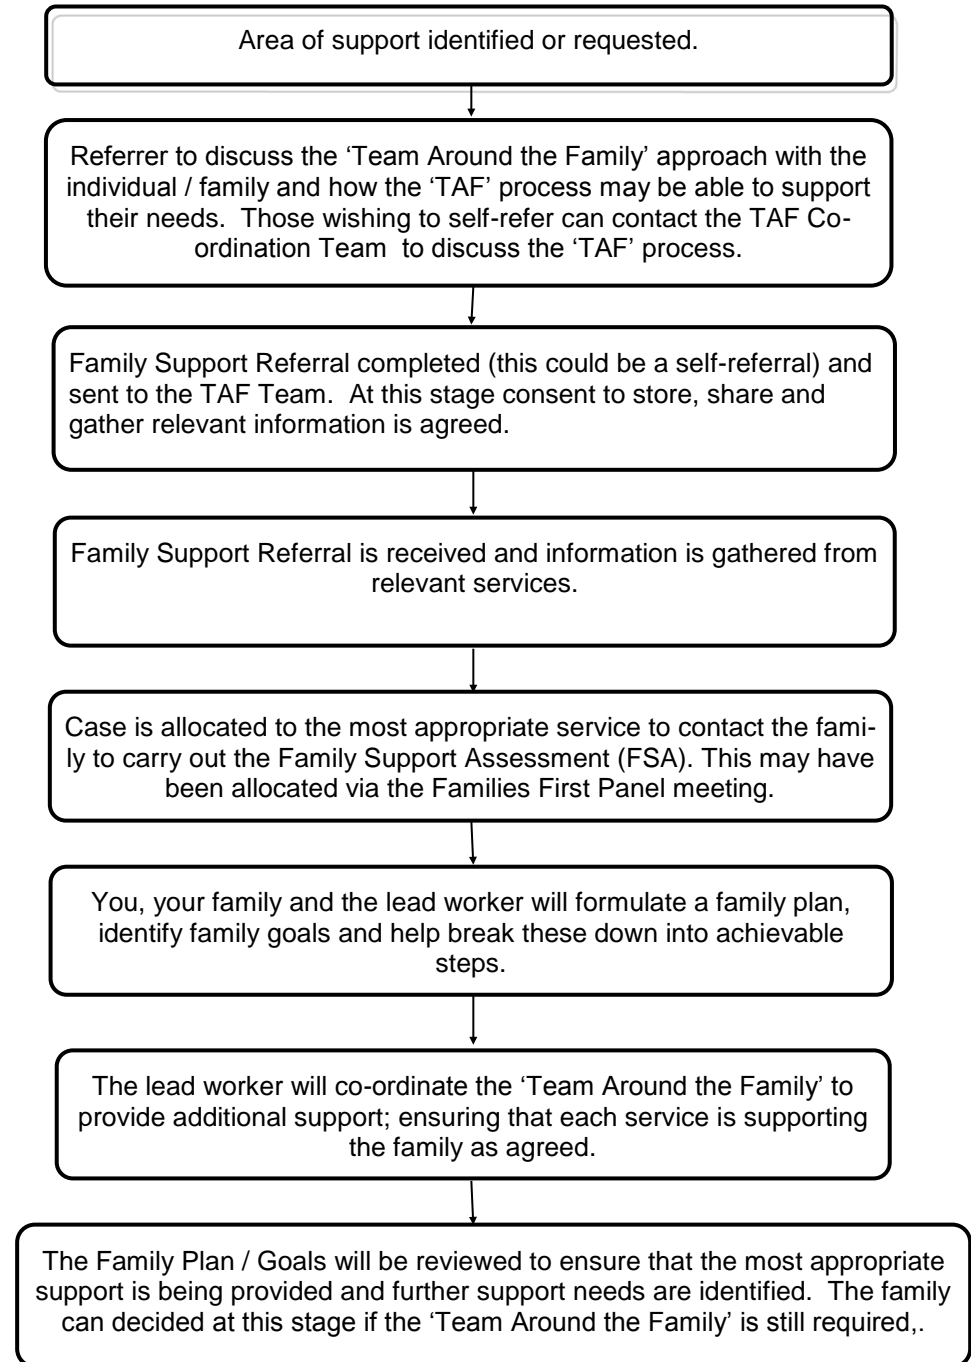

How does it work?

Finding out about the strengths and needs you and your family may have, along with the best way to help is a bit like doing a jigsaw puzzle.

First we need to find all of the pieces before we can put them together to see the whole picture clearly and establish the best way of helping.

Step by step summary

Who could be involved?

The members of your Team Around the Family will depend on what support you need. They could include for example a family member, friend or someone who works with your child, a health professional, or anyone else who works with families. The focus of their work will be on all working together to help you build on your strengths as a family and make positive changes.

You are also an important member of the Team and can choose to be involved in this way of working. You can also make suggestions about who should be involved in the Team.

Who will have information about me and my family?

The information relating to your Family Support Assessment and plan will only be shared with those directly involved in supporting you and your family. However, there may be times when the people working with you have to share information. For example;

- In an emergency in order to save life, or to protect a family member from significant harm.
- If a person is a risk to the public or may inflict harm to themselves or others.
- There is a risk of a criminal offence

What happens?

If you and your family consent to 'Team Around the Family' Support, then a referral form is completed and submitted to the TAF Officer for your area (North/South).

You may also make a self-referral by contacting the TAF Co-ordination Team.

Information is then gathered to ensure the most appropriate Lead Worker is appointed. The Lead Worker will complete a Team Around the Family Assessment with you to help identify family goals. This will be used to put together a plan of action so the Team involved are clear as to what needs to be done and who is going to do it. You should only need to tell your 'story' once.

What is a lead worker?

The Lead Worker is your link with the Team and will coordinate your plan and make sure you receive the support that has been agreed.

The Family Plan will be reviewed regularly to make sure that you are happy with the support being provided and to draw in additional support if/when required.

The Lead Worker will also be your contact if you have any questions or concerns.
